Here's another list for those investigating 28 mm figures for the game. This time I list Old Glory miniatures. This time the Romans and Carthaginian armies come out to $474 and $599 each.

Old Glory certainly has many varied and interesting minis for the Punic wars. There are plenty of choices for the Republic Romans, Africans, and associated allies. OG packages the figures in bags of 30 (foot) or 10 (mounted), so you can save a bit of money versus other lines with these larger bags. These armies cost about 10 to 20 percent less than Foundry figures.

Once again, note that the elephants alone cost nearly one third of the combined armies! However, I tried to save money by splitting leaders, archers, and slingers between the two armies. I have read the allies and auxilias played for both sides.

I hope this is a help to CCA gamers. And I hope some of the manufacturers see the excitement for this game system and come up with more packaged armies and discounts. Next I hope to spec out a few 15 mm sets, especially Corvus Belli or Xyston who have some really fine figures! Have fun.
